Vauxhall to lose one in ten workers

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

MORE than a tenth of the workforce at Vauxhall's Luton plant will leave at the end of the month after workers accepted a voluntary redundancy deal.

The employees made the decision following negotiations between the Unite union and Vauxhall which will mean 117 workers have been offered an 'attractive voluntary separation package', with some being given the option of taking up early retirement.

A spokeswoman said 117 people had already signed up to the severance packages and that they would be leaving on December 31.

The plant currently has 1,042 employees directly employed by Vauxhall.

A decline in demand on mainland Europe for cars means the plant will move to a single shift of production from January 1 next year.

In a statement, the company said the move is an 'important step' towards 'further strengthening the future and sustainability of the Luton plant'.

The firm also said 100 staff who are 'key team members' have already begun preparing for the launch of the next generation Vauxhall Vivaro (x82) which is scheduled for production from the second quarter of 2014.

In September car production at the plants in Luton and Ellesmere, Cheshire, was suspended for a week following a decline of sales in Europe.

A Vauxhall spokeswoman said: "Employees at Vauxhall's Luton van plant voted on a proposal submitted after consultation between Vauxhall and Unite the Union and as a result, an overwhelming majority agreed to move to a single shift from January 1, 2013.

"Re-adjusting the production schedule will generate stability by closely matching supply and demand and ensure the plant's sustainable future in the longer term by bridging the current economic downturn in mainland Europe.

"With the move to a single shift operation, 117 employees are offered an attractive voluntary separation package permitting many to take advantage of an early retirement option.

"In addition, a group of 100 key team members have started to support the launch of the next generation Vivaro (X82), scheduled for production from the second quarter of 2014.

"The launch of the new vehicle will also engender the intake of a number of employees keen to join the manufacturing environment - some taking advantage of a substantial apprenticeship programme.

"In support of the local economy, Vauxhall will furthermore significantly raise the UK supply content for its new X82 Vivaro, aiming for around 40 per cent - and the company is investing £95 million into new facilities and tooling in preparation of the launch.

"Our announcement is another important step towards the launch of the next generation Vivaro, further strengthening the future and sustainability of the Luton plant which will be the only light commercial vehicle manufacturer in the UK from 2014."

Tesco error leaves family without food

A MOTHER of five struggling to make ends meet was left without her weekly shopping after an administrative mistake by Tesco.

Marissa Bird, 29, had made the online order, which included food, nappies and milk, on Wednesday evening and had paid for it to be delivered the following day. But, the family were left to go hungry after the supermarket giant tried to take the wrong amount out of Mrs Bird's account and the order was declined.

Store leaves family without food order

BY LAUREN ARCHELL
lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

TESCO has apologised after making a mistake which left a family without food.

Careful Marissa Bird, of Linnet Close, Luton, ordered her weekly shop worth £73 online, ensuring that she had a couple of pounds left in her account. But the next day she was horrified to receive a call from Tesco telling her that her card had been declined.

After checking with her bank that the money was indeed there, she discovered that the store was trying to take £80 out of her account.

Mrs Bird said: "I asked why, and they said that they had to process the original price of your shopping, without deductions, through the card."

"I told them that I had the final total of £73 in my account, and asked if there was any way that an item or two could be removed from the order but they said no."

"In the end my order was cancelled and we were left without our delivery. I am very angry. "They have apologised but my children can't eat an apology."

A spokesman from Tesco said: "Sometimes, when a product ordered online is unavailable, a substitute product will be offered. On this occasion, our customer ordered some nappies on promotion, but unfortunately the store was out of stock and a non-promotional substitution was made.

FRUSTRATED: Marissa Bird and baby Lilly, with the family's empty fridge

"This pushed the price of her shop above the limit of her account. Our customer has accepted £40 in online grocery vouchers as a gesture of our goodwill."

The spokesman added that it isn't policy to process a pre-discount payment, although he couldn't explain why Mrs Bird had been told this.

PCC 'welcomes' budget protection from Government

THE protection of police budgets from funding cuts next year has been welcomed by Bedfordshire's Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC).

Olly Martins was speaking in the wake of news that the police would be excluded from the one per cent budget cut across all Government departments announced in Wednesday's Autumn Statement.

But the newly-elected PCC also warned of the uncertainty that remained over the impact of two per cent cuts announced for the police in 2014.

He said that Bedfordshire Police 'would be in a difficult place' if they were to see their budget slashed further.

Mr Martins met Home Secretary Theresa May on Monday along with other PCCs.

He said: "I welcome the Home Secretary's announcement that she has protected Government funding for the police from further cuts in the next financial year, following the announcement of a one per cent cut across all departments."

"Unfortunately this still leaves uncertainty about the impact of the two per cent cut announced for the following year."

"As I made clear to Mrs May at the PCC Home Office summit earlier this week, Bedfordshire Police will be in a difficult place if the force budget is cut further."

"We are already seeing the loss of 185 police officers and half of our PCSOs compared to the levels in 2010 as a result of this Government's 20 per cent police budget cuts."

"I fear that any further budget cuts can only mean further reductions in police strength and I know this is not what the public want."

"We are not, as Chancellor George Osborne attempts to suggest, talking about bureaucrats."

"We are talking about police officers and PCSOs."

MP: Leave me alone or I'll call police

MP NADINE Dorries has warned journalists that she'll inform the police of 'harassment' if they continue visiting her home.

The Mid Bedfordshire representative, who sparked outrage last month when she went Down Under to appear on I'm A Celebrity, Get Me Out Of Here, took to Twitter this morning to vent her frustration.

She tweeted: "If another red top journalist visits my home, members of my family, their homes or my office I will inform the police. This is harassment. If any journalists turn up at my surgery tomorrow the same applies - you are hindering my staff and constituents."

But her comments have provoked some angry responses on the social media site.

@PakarelliPaks wrote: "You deliberately created this narrative by courting publicity. You can't pick and choose when you want it I'm afraid."

@3rdMusketeer added: "You forget you're a public servant. your constituents pay you and have a right to make sure you're doing your job."

Earlier this week a petition signed by almost 700 people calling for Ms Dorries to be deselected has been handed over to her local Conservative Party.

Constituent and campaigner Jonathan Paxton, 36, presented the list of 688 names to vice-chairman of Mid-Beds Conservative Association, Budge Wells, at the MP's office in Shefford on Monday morning.

Ex-Hatters finance boss booted out of institute

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

THE former finance director of Luton Town Football Club has been kicked out of a professional accounting body for misconduct during his time at the club.

Derek Peter held joint responsibility for Luton Town's finances between July 2004 and February 2007, when they were found to have acted in breach of FA and FIFA rules and regulations on payments to football agents.

During the same period of July 2004 and February 2007 the directors individually either caused or allowed the company to trade at the risk of and ultimate detriment of HMRC which was owed at one point £3,578,661.

The actions during this period led to the club entering administration in November 2007, and ultimately falling out of the football league.

Despite a new board of directors taking over in 2008, the Hatters have never recovered from the troubled period in their history and currently play in the Blue Square Premier League.

As a result of the financial irregularities, Mr Peter was subject to a six-day trial at the High Court in London in 2011, which ended in him being banned from directing a company for seven years.

The matter was then referred to the Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales (ICAEW), which held its own disciplinary tribunal, the result of which was announced this week.

During the tribunal it was decided that due to the 'grave seriousness' of the matters, and the discredit that had been brought to 'himself, the ICAEW and the profession, no lesser sanction than exclusion would suffice'.

As well as the exclusion order, the tribunal ordered him to pay costs of £3,000. It also recommended that no application for his readmission as a member should be considered before September 2018.

Mr Peter, of Totteridge, Barnet, was one of four former directors of Luton Town Football Club, including ex-chairman Bill Tomlins and fellow directors Richard Bagehot and John Mitchell, that were banned from managing companies.

The High Court found that between 2004 and 2007 he contributed towards the club breaching rules and regulations relating to payments to football agents, as well as causing Luton Town to trade at the risk, and 'ultimate detriment' to HM Revenue & Customs - which saw the taxman owed £3.5m by the time of his resignation in 2007.

Since relegation in 2008 the Hatters have failed to regain the league football status. The ICAEW said it cannot comment on individual cases.

Luton MP warns of 'ten years of pain'

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutonsunday.co.uk

AN MP has warned that the Chancellor of the Exchequer's Autumn Statement 'is going to bring on a decade of pain'.

Gavin Shaker, Labour MP for Luton South, was speaking in the wake of George Osborne's statement on Wednesday about the Government's latest spending plans.

In it, Mr Osborne revealed a raft of measures which included a cancellation of the planned rise in fuel duty and further cuts in Government departments.

Mr Shaker said: "The Autumn Statement is going to bring on a decade of pain."

"Luton Council is having to make the horrendous cuts and after this is done I don't know what is going to be left."

The authority has been at pains in recent weeks to emphasise the difficulty of the financial task it faces.

Changes in the way it is funded means it is looking at finding £48 million worth of savings in the next three years, with £22m of that coming out of the 2013/14 budget.

At a full council meeting last month, a group of union members staged a protest outside the Town Hall in response to an announcement that 200 jobs could be lost in the environment and regeneration department.

In recent times the council has come under criticism for the loss it made on this year's Love Luton Festival as well as salaries paid to companies run by some of its staff members.

But Mr Shaker said people should look at the scale of the cuts being made.

He said: "The council has a 50 per cent cut to make to its budget so people can jump up and down about small amounts of money but the cuts have to be made."

"The Coalition Government is slashing the residents' services and anyone who does not acknowledge this is doing a disservice to the town."

"People need to get angry about this Government because it is failing the country."

"I am going to be speaking at a cuts rally that has been organised in the town in January."

"And I will continue to raise this issue about how these cuts are affecting my constituents forcefully and without shame in Parliament."

"This Government has no plans for jobs or growth so they should make a U-turn and put in place a Plan B."

"There is a big dividing line in politics right now because it's clear for all to see that the Chancellor's plans are not working."

Flats mean last orders for pub

A VACANT pub will be given a new lease of life as a block of five flats.

The site, on the corner of Albion Street and Edward Street in Dunstable, has been boarded up since it closed earlier this year.

The premises, which was formerly The Borough Arms, first shut its doors in 2009, but was re-opened as a bar and live rock

'n' roll entertainment venue called Goffys last year.

However, this opening was short-lived, and unfortunately the premises closed again at the turn of the year.

But it is hoped that the site could soon be back in use after Central Bedfordshire Council accepted a planning application to turn it into housing. The application, which was submitted in August, show that the two storey building will be completely renovated and converted into four one bedroom flats, and one three bedroom flat. The garage and kitchen will be demolished before work can begin on constructing the new properties.

University student highlights plight of the homeless

A STUDENT has become a charity manager in a bid to raise the awareness of youth homelessness. University of Bedfordshire HR Management student Teri Manning is taking on the newly-established role at Team V, in addition to her studies. She wants to highlight homelessness among 18 to 25 year olds and the impact it has on the community. Team V is a charity initiative aimed at inspiring youngsters to promote change. The 20-year-old said: "As someone who has grown up in Luton, I have seen first-hand the devastating effects youth homelessness has. Some of my friends have gone to the street and didn't know where to find help. "I hope Team V's work will have a lasting effect and show young people, experiencing hard times, that organisations such as Team V are available to help them."

Money in place to build new link road

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

FUNDING for the A5-M1 link road has been secured, it was confirmed this week. The 2.9 mile dual carriageway will run east from the A5 north of Dunstable to the M1 at a new junction (J11a), and aims to improve journey time and reliability for those travelling on the A5. Although the project was given the green light in October, this week Chancellor George Osborne announced that the money for the scheme is now in place. It will be delivered with the help of developer contributions, with construction expected to begin in late 2014 and completion in 2016. Central Bedfordshire Councillor Nigel Young said: "I am absolutely delighted that funding for the link road has been confirmed by the Government. It is fantastic news for our towns of Dunstable, Houghton Regis and Leighton Buzzard and surrounding villages, bringing much needed traffic relief. "The A5-M1 Link is the most important infrastructure need for Central Beds and is pivotal to our plans to regenerate this area. "It will not only relieve major traffic congestion but the quick links with the motorway network will give businesses a huge incentive to locate here and provide a huge economic boost." Plans for the dual carriageway were first announced by Alistair Darling in July 2003, but were quickly postponed as the funding couldn't be secured. In 2010 Central Beds tried to get the scheme back on track, and it was revealed in October that the State for Transport and Communities Local Government had accepted a recommendation, which means that the bypass should be built as soon as possible.

Turner Prize winning artist praises schools

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

THE winner of this year's Turner Prize has praised her education at schools in the town for helping her develop as an artist.

Luton-educated Elizabeth Price (pictured) was awarded with the 2012 Turner Prize at a ceremony on Monday.

She said her 'inclusive' education at Putteridge High School and Luton Sixth Form College allowed her to try her hand at many things.

The video artist also received £25,000 for her winning work, a 15-minute film called The Woolworths Choir 1979, which documents a tragedy that left ten people dead at a Manchester Woolworths store in 1979.

She had been one of four nominees up for the prize, considered as one of the most prestigious honours in the UK art scene.

Speaking after the win, London-based Price said: "My education was really good and inclusive. There was a chance for all the students to do all sorts of things.

"For example I played the violin - I was average - but I was in the orchestra.

"I was never good at being a musician but it wasn't about that. It was about getting the chance to try different things and find out what you're good at.

"And I fear students these days will not be able to get that chance with this new English Baccalaureate the Government is introducing. It will marginalise the arts and music. People like me may not have had a chance to be where I am now if I had to go through a course like that.

"If I had a chance to change the current education system I would move away from the constant assessments and tests. They don't always help young people to develop as they should."

Store set to be the Apple of customers' eyes

A SHOP offering the latest Apple products and accessories is due to start trading in The Mall before Christmas.

Stormfront, which opens on Saturday, will replace Barratt's Shoes which has relocated to another unit in the shopping centre.

The new store will employ around eight members of staff in a mix of full, part-time and management positions.

Julian Dow, Marketing

Manager for the Mall Luton, said: "When you are purchasing a Mac computer or an iPad you really want to talk to staff who know the products well, and who can also advise you on what best suits your needs. We know that this is what Stormfront will offer so we are very excited."

Customers who purchase a Mac computer on the opening day will receive ten per cent off."

Look at the new bus shelters

SIR – Have the people of Luton noticed the new bus stops and shelters?

Don't they look grand?

All the pavements have been raised to help the disabled get onto the buses.

I just wonder how much one of these shelters cost – a lot of money I bet.

I would also like to ask which genius sanctioned putting glass into the shelters.

The ones in the Luton & Dunstable Hospital area have been smashed at least once; some of them three times.

Although the glass is about half an inch thick, they still get smashed.

Did the person who spent our money think of this?

It couldn't have been the cheaper option to put glass in, and can you believe it when they mend them they are still putting glass in.

You couldn't make it up.

But it's not their money they are wasting is it?

AD Currant
Lime Avenue, Luton

Changes made to save lives

The improvements in Houghton Regis at Bedford Road and High Street junction are not to increase traffic speed but are intended to improve the number of vehicles that

Looking forward to the Carnival

SIR – I was disappointed to read the headline you used in your recent article relating to the review of cultural services – 'Carnival could be the next one hit by cuts'.

As you rightly point out, we are about to begin a consultation on the future delivery of library and cultural services because of the significant budget cuts that are being imposed on us.

However, this particular consultation does not include carnival. In fact, the only discussion

NOT AFFECTED: The carnival is not part of the consultation around carnival at the moment is about how much we are looking forward to it next year.

Luton International Carnival will be back in May 2013. You just need to pay a visit to the carnival arts centre to see parade groups working tirelessly to create magnificent costumes to impress the crowds next year.

Luton Councillor Mohammed Ashraf

can travel through the area in the same time period.

I get written and verbal reports about the dangerous zebra crossing almost daily.

Whatever improvements are made for safety reasons will be made to save lives.

LBC's cuts dilemma

SIR – I read with interest and just a tinge of dismay that Luton Borough Council needs to reduce staff and services to a minimum level that will provide a statutory service for the financial year 2013/14.

That is an interesting way of putting it when you consider it could result in the loss of 200 jobs, mainly from frontline operations.

Luton is not the cleanest of towns despite the Herculean efforts of our street cleaners and those who work in our environment and regeneration services.

Yet consideration is being given to a reduction in vital waste disposal collections. Perhaps I can help by pointing to another direction where cuts can be made.

I note Luton has a population of some 203,000 people in the main represented by 48 councillors, a ratio of one councillor to every 4,230 people approximately.

We have but two MPs representing around about 100,000 citizens each.

If the ratio of Luton councillors to Luton people was replicated in the House of Commons based on a population of 60 million we could have as many as 14,100 MPs.

Could you imagine what effect that would have on the expenses saga?

As an extreme measure the council could of course as in previous years defy the coalition Government and raise the council tax for the year 2013/12.

In any event, I do not envy their dilemma and I wish them well in their deliberations.

Frank Hickey
Wadhurst Avenue, Luton

SO what exactly is wrong with Human Rights? Many Conservatives, including ex-ministers, who are growing in number by the day, are campaigning to get rid of it.

This week 72 Tories, including seven former ministers, voted in the House of Commons to repeal the Act. Of course the main thing wrong with it is that it is 'European'. The Act enshrines the European Convention of Human Rights into British law. And that means that Jonny Foreigner might be adjudicating on British matters, which just won't do.

International courts and conventions are by the by. The fact that we cannot run our economy how we would like, or charge taxes we would like because global corporations, banks and international regulatory bodies will not allow it, is by the by.

Europe they hate and anything European is by definition bad. When you look at the Act it does not seem too scary, with such rights as the right to life, the right to liberty, the right to a fair trial, the right to privacy and the right to freedom of expression.

The last one is quite interesting at the moment, because this right may make state regulation of the press unlawful. That would put 'Daily Mail land' in a bit of a quandary. Support the Act or allow a state controlled press? Back to the Act, which also bans slavery, inhumane treatment, discrimination and supports marriage and freedom of assembly. What's not to like?

The Conservatives, supported allegedly by the Prime Minister, want to scrap it and introduce a British Bill of Rights. Perhaps under their new Bill, Freedom of Assembly would not be allowed, but slavery would.

Discrimination would be fine but the right to liberty would be scrapped. European courts would not be recognised but the World Bank and IMF would be given greater power.

It's all right for other countries, and other organisations to tell us what to do so long as they are the right countries and the right organisations. Basically ones that put making a quick buck over liberty and justice.

As Conservative numbers in Parliament look unlikely to increase over the next few years, if they are going to do anything they had better do it now. I think having rights enshrined in law to be a good thing and there aren't too many good things around at the moment, so let's leave them alone.

IT'S December, it's England and it snows. And that catches everyone out. Our two local airports, Luton and Stansted, were closed for a time this week, and minor accidents and traffic jams were happening all over the region.

There is something quaintly English about how the snow catches us off guard every year.

This is a country where we can have all four seasons in a day, yet still the snow surprises, amuses and exasperates us. When we woke up Wednesday morning, our nine-year-old came rushing in to tell us to look out of the window. To be fair it was more a smattering than some Alpine scene but still the excitement was palpable. All I wish for is that our services are prepared for it. I am sure some of them are but for many it still comes as a bit of a shock. It happens every year, just like Christmas, and usually just before it. It's the sun that ought to surprise us.

Albion Home Improvements Ltd.

A new home improvement company has begun trading in the Herts, Beds and Bucks area.

Albion Home Improvements Ltd has been set up by Terry and Martin Bowler two brothers who between them have over 50 years' experience. They began working as installers in the 1980s for a national company and they have since progressed through the ranks to cover surveying and installation management.

Four years ago they used their many years of experience to set up and manage a training company for the glass industry and they qualified staff from many local firms up to NVQ levels. With this wealth of experience and knowledge they know exactly what a customer wants and they feel that the time is right to enter the market and provide a product and service that is second to none.

Managing director Terry Bowler said "With the economy in the state it's in at the moment and energy prices on the rise people are obviously looking to save money in any way they can. They are cutting back on household projects but if improvements to your property are unavoidable, you want to make sure you can get the best service possible for the money you spend, and we know that customers will go to a company they can trust to have a stress free project carried out and with Albion that's what we offer. From start to finish we put the customer first and with the insurance backed guarantee from GGFI you have added peace of mind"

Albion can offer the full range of home improvement products including "A" and "B" energy rated windows, 6 point locking doors, patio, composite, French and bi-fold doors all available in many styles.

They are FENSA registered and for peace of mind all work is covered by an insurance backed guarantee with GGFI the only ibg provider endorsed by the GGF and FENSA.

Cyberbullies must be taken seriously

THERE is no doubt that there are some serious issues regarding the press and their intrusion both legal and illegal into the lives of many, mostly the rich and famous.

But another far bigger and influential publishing medium is causing pain and harassment to many ordinary people but is for the most part slipping under the legal radar.

During National Anti-bullying Week this is particularly relevant.

I am talking about social media, the bully's latest and most powerful tool.

Thousands of people, many of them children, are victims to this new and powerful method which freely gives anyone a publishing platform to spread rumours and lies gathering followers and readers along the way.

And I am talking from personal experience.

For the past two years I have been the object of a concerted and sustained campaign via social media.

My crime? Doing my job and trying to earn a legitimate and honest living.

In the course of my work I

LAST week, after months of waiting, the Leveson Report eventually hit the headlines with calls for stronger regulation of the press and new legislation. MICHELE SMITH talks through personal experience of the need to regulate a form of publishing used by millions of us every day.

inadvertently upset a group of individuals who decided, wrongly, that I was behind a decision to deny them a considerable amount of grant funding.

Since then many untruthful and often ludicrous targeted accusations have been aired via Facebook.

These include being 'public purse rinser', submitting fraudulent applications for community money, dishonestly gaining work, having Masonic associations and even being portrayed as a Nazi in a video.

Fortunately I am tough enough to see this for what it is but reading lies about yourself, published via social media sites is nasty and potentially damaging for even the strongest of people. Which of course in true bully style is the reason that they are doing it.

There are laws, the Malicious Communications Act and Harassment are two which apply to this problem but unless you are famous the likelihood of getting the police and the Crown Prosecution Service to do anything is remote and civil action is expensive and often fruitless.

The Facebook reporting mechanism also usually receives no response – I tried all of these to no avail.

My main concern is for the people and children who understandably do crumble under this type of bullying and victimisation and as I found, have

We wish all our customers past and present a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year

CONCERN: Bullying and victimisation are major issues as far as online social media websites are concerned and perpetrators should be 'dealt with properly, according to Michele Smith (photograph posed by model) nowhere to turn for help. Type cyberbullying into a search engine and read about the horrific consequences of this crime including numerous suicides.

My experience pales into insignificance in comparison to these victims but what the public and the law need to appreciate is that as well as regulating the press everyone should be held responsible for what they publish, regardless of if they have one reader or a million.

Those who support or aid and abet them should be accountable too. Scott Freeman, of the charity Cybersmile, deals with the consequences every day.

He said: "Cyberbullying now affects over a third of the UK's children, and the amount of adults being bullied online is growing fast.

"Due to unimaginable amounts of online abuse aimed at some children we are seeing suicide attempts rise to one every 20 minutes within the 10 to 19 year age group in England and Wales. The fact that we have the need for a cyberbullying charity is the real indicator as to how big this problem really is."

Cyberbullying is a serious and hateful crime with potentially devastating outcomes.

It can happen to any of us and the time has come for it to be taken seriously and the perpetrators to be dealt with properly.

Law closes in on the scrap metal thieves

BY STEVE LOWE
editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

SCRAP metal theft causes public outrage across the country.

Thieves vandalise war memorials, steal manhole covers, cause structural damage and even wreak havoc on the railways.

From this week the industry has to clean up its act, as cash payments for scrap metal are no longer legal between dealers and customers.

During the past year Central Bedfordshire Councillors Richard Stay and Budge Wells have been at the forefront of tackling this problem by putting pressure on MPs to go even further and support a national licencing regime that will tighten the regulation of scrap metal.

Cllr Stay said: "By tackling the issue on a national level, we're not only seeking to protect businesses and communities in Bedfordshire but we're also stopping the metal thieves and the buyers of the stolen goods from taking their trade elsewhere in the country, meaning the crooks will have nowhere to hide."

"In Bedfordshire - 130 drain and manhole covers alone were stolen last year, costing the council £8,000 to replace.

ON THE CASE: Central Beds councillors Richard Stay and Budge Wells

The Scrap Metal Dealers Bill has recently passed its third reading in Parliament and will now go to the House of Lords for consideration.

Meanwhile, Bedfordshire Police have been doing all they can within the current law to clamp down on the illegal metal trade.

They are one of a number of police forces taking part in Operation Tornado, which aims to make it easier to trace sellers of stolen metal through an identification scheme. Anyone selling scrap metal to dealers participating in Operation Tornado has been required to provide proof of their identity, either in the form of a photo card driving licence including an address, or a passport or national ID card supported by a utility bill, which must be under three months old and also show their address.

The results have been dramatic - between April and September metal thefts in Central Bedfordshire were down by 17 per cent as compared to the same months last year.

We'd like you to meet Daniel; he's 10 months old.

Daniel is a happy and content baby boy. He has a gorgeous smile that makes his foster carer's heart melt. Daniel loves being around people, he's a vocal boy who will giggle and 'chat' with you and he's very affectionate. He loves listening to his favourite musical tunes on the TV and makes his own music at music club.

Daniel would fit nicely into any family with parents who can nurture and guide him, he has a lovely calm character and he is developing well.

Daniel needs a new adoptive family who can love him, care for him and support him to meet his potential.

We'd like that new adoptive family to be you.

Could you be Daniel's new family?

We'll help you all the way, the adoption team in Islington can provide valuable support and guidance, there are allowances available if you need it and lots of our adoptive parents are there to give advice too. You can be single or a couple, with or without children.

We welcome your experience of life.

We all have areas of our lives when things haven't gone to plan, but we've survived, and your experiences in life could be valuable as Daniel grows up. As well as being fun and rewarding, being an adoptive parent means you'll make a big difference to Daniel's life - AND YOURS TOO!

Panto stars to take you on Aladdin's magic carpet ride

THEATRE

ALADDIN

The Alban Arena, St Albans

Friday until Sunday, January 6, 2013

THIS year The Alban Arena's family pantomime will see a host of well known performers gather together to tell the story of Aladdin.

CBeebies favourite Mister Maker (Phil Gallagher), Shaun Williamson ('Barry' in EastEnders) and other performers join on the arena's stage to act out the tale of street-urchin Aladdin but with a pantomime twist.

In the original story, young Aladdin lives in a large and busy town with his faithful monkey friend Abu.

Princess Jasmine also lives nearby and she is getting tired of being forced to remain in the palace that overlooks the city.

She sneaks out to the marketplace in a moment of rebellion and accidentally bumps into Aladdin. The two discover they share a lot in common.

But before a friendship can blossom between the two Jafar, the sultan's advisor, arranges for Aladdin to be thrown in jail after he is caught stealing.

While there Aladdin becomes caught up in Jafar's plot to rule the land with the aid of a mysterious lamp.

Legend has it that only a person who is a 'diamond in the rough' can retrieve the magic lamp from the Cave of Wonders.

In a twist of fate it turns out that Aladdin fits that description, but unfortunately for him that's not enough to marry Princess Jasmine, who by law, is supposed to marry a prince.

Jafar, while in disguise, releases Aladdin from prison and takes him to the cave where the magic lamp is located.

But the young thief becomes trapped in the cave with his sidekick and not before he accidentally discovers the genie in the magic lamp.

Aladdin uses his wishes to become a prince so that he can chase the affections of Princess Jasmine but when Jafar finally steals the lamp Aladdin must rely on his intelligence to trick him and save his friends and the kingdom.

Tickets cost between £14 and £21.50. You can book by calling the box office on 01727 844488 or by visiting www.alban-arena.co.uk

Listen to some smooth classics at the jazz club

MUSIC

CHRISTINE TOBIN

Campus West, Welyn Garden City
Today, 7.45pm

A REGULAR on the UK jazz scene, Christine Tobin will be performing at the Herts Jazz Club tonight.

And she will be backed by Phil Robson (guitar), Dave Whitford (double bass) and Clark Tracey (drums) as she sings tunes from the classic jazz repertoire.

The Irish born jazz singer has been part of the London jazz and improvising scene since the second half of the 1980s.

Since that time she has performed alongside artists such as Kenny Wheeler, Billy Childs, Billy Hart, Mike Gibbs and Django Bates.

Her style is that of a singer-songwriter but she also draws on a broad range of influences from West Africa to Brazil.

Much of her repertoire is self-penned and Tobin has received many accolades for her work as a writer and arranger.

The band also consists of well travelled musicians. Guitarist Phil is the leader of Six Strings and the Beat, Phil Robson Trio and co-leader of Partisans.

He has a trio with U.S. drummer Billy Hart and bassist James Genus and is a longtime member of the BBC Big Band who he has written and arranged for.

Dave, the double bassist, has played and recorded with Steve Lacy, Kenny Wheeler, Hans Koller Big Band, Marc Copland, Bobby Wellins and John Taylor.

And Clark, the drummer, has had 30 years experience in music and has recorded more than 90 albums.

He has won the 'Best Drums' title three times at the British Jazz Awards.

Tickets cost £13 if you buy on the door but there is a £11 concession for online and advance bookings. Herts Jazz members pay £8 and under 21s pay £5.

You can book by visiting www.hertsjazz.co.uk

MUSIC

LISA MCHUGH

Holy Ghost Parish Centre, Luton

Friday, 8pm

AS part of her second anniversary celebration tour, Lisa McHugh will be visiting the Holy Ghost Parish.

And this time she comes with her band for another performance.

The Irish country artist has spent the year appearing with her band in major venues and festivals across Ireland.

This has included various countries along the way such as the UK as well as special appearances in the USA, Spain and Portugal.

When she was in the USA, Lisa made her first appearance on the Grand Ole Opry, the world's longest live running radio programme.

She was a guest of Gene Watson, the American country singer, and the two artists recorded a duet that will be released as a single in the future.

Lisa also performed on BBC Alba TV's Ceol Country series, filmed live at the annual Northern Nashville Caithness Country Music Festival in Scotland.

Her latest album Dreams Come to Life includes her hit single Why'd Ya Come In Here that now has almost 70,000 views on YouTube.

The singer also received eight awards last year and was presented with the 'Best Female Singer of the Year 2012' in London by Dáithí Ó Sé on behalf of The Irish World newspaper.

Enjoy Derrin's blues blends

MUSIC

DERRIN NAUENDORF

Old Town Hall, Hemel

Hempstead
Saturday, 8pm

DERRIN Nauendorf will be visiting the Old Town Hall with his blend of blues, folk and country music.

The Australian singer combines his varied musical taste with his guitar, vocal and lyric skills to create his sound.

His career started several years ago when he upped sticks from Australia and boarded a flight to the UK with only one telephone number.

He also had £1,200 in cash, a guitar, several extra layers of clothing and a plane ticket.

On his arrival he was determined to make something of his music career and he spent most of his early years playing anywhere that would have him.

Derrin slept on floors and lived on tuna baguettes while chasing his dream.

Things started looking up for the persevering musician a few years ago when he purchased an old post office van, which then became his home for the next six months.

This allowed him to get more gigs and take his music, out into the real depths of the country.

Fast-forward to now and Derrin has been able to get spots playing as a supporting act to a host of truly legendary musicians from the annals of rock 'n' roll, including major superstars such as Van Morrison, John Butler and Deep Purple.

He has been live in session on national radio in the UK, Holland and Australia and is now set to release his first new studio album in four years.

In addition to this, Derrin has had the lyrics to his song Shipwrecked published in a text book for English Literature by Cambridge University Press.

This year saw the release of his album called Distant Empires.

Speaking of his music, he said: "I really tried to test myself as an artist. I had a clear idea of what I was trying to say and achieve up to a couple of years before the recording."

Tickets cost £10, with concessions at £8. To book call 01442 228091 or visit www.oldtownhall.co.uk

WOODSIDE LINK

Linking Woodside Industrial Estate, Houghton Regis and Dunstable to the A5 & M1

The public consultation is now underway, and ends on 24th December 2012

Woodside Link
A5 – M1 Link (promoted by Highways Agency)

Woodside Link

The proposed road runs from the new junction 11A on the M1 motorway to the junction with Park Road North, Porz Avenue and Poynters Road.

The aim of the road is to reduce traffic, especially goods vehicles accessing Woodside Industrial Estate, from the centres of Houghton Regis and Dunstable. A link to Sundon Road provides a connection from local roads to the M1 motorway.

Consultation Leaflet

If you live in Houghton Regis, Dunstable, west Luton, Chalton or Sundon, you should have received a consultation leaflet. There is still time to return the freepost card with your views and comments on the proposed Woodside Link.

Representations and comments may also be made in writing to Central Bedfordshire Council at Priory House, Monks Walk, Chicksands, Bedford, SG17 5TG, or to Bedfordshire Highways, Woodlands Annex, Manton Lane, Bedford, MK41 7NU, or via email to myjourney@centralbedfordshire.gov.uk by 24th December 2012.

All plans and documents, including the Preliminary Environmental Information will be available for inspection at the offices of Central Bedfordshire Council (Priory House, Monks Walk, Chicksands, Bedford, SG17 5TG or Watling House, High Street North, Dunstable, LU6 1LF) during normal office hours (8.30am to 5.00pm Monday to Thursday, 8.30am to 4.00pm Friday) between 16th November 2012 and 25th January 2013.

All documents are also available at the project website www.centralbedfordshire.gov.uk/woodsidelink, and can be purchased from the Council at a charge of 20p per A4 page, 40p per A3 page and £10 per A1 plan.

AIR APPARENT?

We're usually too busy fawning over the looks of Alfa Romeo products to focus on the technological developments the brand has pioneered and as a result, the Italian firm sometimes doesn't get the credit it deserves.

The MultiAir technology found in the MiTo's crop of 1.4-litre petrol engines has the potential to prove highly significant, giving their trendy supermini a major leg-up in the battle at the top end of the UK's small car market.

There are two MultiAir engines available in the MiTo. Most will opt for the lusty 135bhp turbocharged version, but there's also an even faster 170bhp Cloverleaf range-topper, complete with active suspension. For small capacity petrol engines, both produce a decent amount of torque and do so low down in the rev-range where you can make good use of it. There's 180Nm at 1,750rpm from the 135bhp car and 230Nm at 2,500rpm from the 170bhp one. Tweak the MiTo's DNA selector into D for Dynamic and a further 20Nm is added to each total by the overboost function. Even the 135bhp MultiAir can do the 0-60mph shuffle in 8.4s while the 170bhp version manages the same in 7.5s. The MiTo MultiAir models also come with Alfa's Stop&Start technology which cuts the vehicle's engine when it's stopped, restarting it again automatically when it's time to pull away. Combined with the MultiAir combustion system, this makes for some very attractive fuel economy figures. The 135bhp turbocharged engine can achieve an excellent 50mpg with emissions of 129g/km.

Go for the fiery 170bhp MiTo Cloverleaf and the official figures are still remarkable at 47mpg and 139g/km.

SPRINT HOPE: Deji Tobais

Tobais sprinting towards qualifying for Euro Champs

ATHLETICS

BY BENNY SINGARAJAN
sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

DEJI Tobais has his sights set on the European Athletics U23 Championships in Finland next year.

The sprinter from Luton has been training rigorously during the off-season in preparation for the event in Tampere.

The sprinter is looking forward to improve his timings and feels his training has put him on the right track.

"If you look at my performances this year it is like I had two different seasons," Tobias said.

"I had some good races and some bad ones."

Tobais ran 100 metres in 10.21 at Heusden-Zolder (BEL) this year, beating his earlier personal best of 10.29, which he achieved earlier this year at Praha (CZE).

He wants to break the 10-second barrier and is hoping to be a part of the GB team traveling to the Rio Olympics in 2016.

"Watching some of the people you have ran with participating in the 2012 [London] Olympics, you really want to get there and Rio is the target."

He feels he is not far from being a part of the National team but feels there is stiff competition as there are at least 10 athletes in the same pool as him.

"I'm working the same way, working hard in training and going for much more direct approach and I feel I'm within touching distance of making it into the national squad."

Tobais ran 60, 200, 300 and 4x100 metres this year, but feels he has not found his strongest yet.

He is studying Sports Studies and Business at the University of Hertfordshire and finds it hard to juggle his studies and athletic career, but he accepts it is a challenge most athletes face.

"It is all about balancing your studies and your training sessions, it is not always easy, it can be hard but it is the same for everyone like me," Tobias said.

'This is not two men beating each other up senselessly'

Marc Bazeley was in Birmingham to watch Dale Hardiman slug it

MIXED MARTIAL ARTS

BRITAIN has always been a nation of fight connoisseurs.

From the days of the Romans bringing their various combat sports over with them, through the rise of prize fighting in the 18th century and up to the present day when the country's boxers are feted as sporting heroes, the idea of two combatants going one-on-one has captured the imagination.

But while the ancient art of pugilism has long held sway, the last decade has seen an explosion in the popularity of Mixed Martial Arts – colloquially known as cage fighting.

The rapid growth of the sport has come hot on the heels of the crossing over of America's Ultimate Fighting Championship (UFC) into the mainstream consciousness. Last Saturday's BAMMA 11 show at Birmingham's NIA is a case in point.

MMA has a reputation of being a savage, no-holds-barred exhibition in brutality with two men locked in a cage. Maybe that was true in the early days of UFC, and there is no escaping the fact that it is an inherently violent sport.

Yet these promotions are heavily regulated and with ringside ambulance crews and doctors, there are no chances taken with safety.

Of course, the same was always said about boxing. Despite prize fighting being outlawed during those halcyon days in Georgian England, the newspapers of the day carried detailed reports of the latest bouts.

Pierce Egan, the most celebrated boxing scribe of his time, went as far as to suggest that if it was done away with completely "the English character may get too refined, and the thoroughbred bulldog degenerate into the whining puppy".

If he were alive today, Egan would no doubt appreciate the finer points of MMA as boxing in his era permitted wrestling throws and holds above the waist.

The practitioners of MMA are drawn from a wide variety of fighting backgrounds; wrestlers, brawlers, Muay Thai kick boxers and jiu-jitsu experts were all among those stepping into the cage in Birmingham.

Sitting cage-side, every punch, kick, knee, elbow and grunt of pain from the combatants is audible, but this is not just simply two grown men beating each other senseless.

Much in the same way as the sweet science of boxing, there are many facets and nuances to MMA, particularly with regards to the ground work as the fighters try to work their way into a position where they can land enough blows to force the referee to step and halt proceedings in or apply a submission hold.

A sign of perhaps how far the sport has come is evidenced by the fact the top end of the 14-fight card was broadcast on Channel 5 – the first time that an MMA show has been televised live on one of the five major free-to-air channels in the UK.

Sponsors such as Ladbrokes, internet domain name giants GoDaddy.com and clothing retailer Sports Direct were also among those having their names associated with the event.

The headline contest was the return of Alex Reid – perhaps best known in the public's mind for his relationship with former glamour model Katie Price – to action for the first time since August last year. It was his first appearance on a BAMMA show since September 2010.

His match-up against journeyman Sam Boo and the decision to place this top of the bill was derided by some, but any publicity is good publicity, right?

Reid laboured to a unanimous decision victory over Boo, but otherwise it was an excitement-packed card that thrilled a large crowd, many of whom were in attendance from the start of the preliminary bouts until the end six hours later. One included Luton's Dale Hardiman unsuccessfully challenging Steven Ray to be crowned as BAMMA's inaugural lightweight champion. The Storm Gym man lost 30-27 on all three judges' scorecards after three, hard-fought five minute rounds.

Much of the crowd were there cheering their own favourites.

Leon Edward and Yannick Bahati, both of Birmingham club UTC, drew large local support that roared them on to victories over Jonathan Bilton and Ben Constantine respectively.

The action was fast and furious, and there was little break-in-between bouts. Two giant screens also beamed the action in the cage to those in the arena.

In 1790, the fight between Daniel Mendoza and Richard Humphries made history as the first sporting event in the UK to demand an admission fee. Spectators paid half-a-guinea to watch them square off in the yard of a Doncaster inn.

More than 500 fans paid around £25 to watch the action on Saturday, demonstrating MMA's rapid ascent and its ability to rival boxing for popularity. Britain's love of the fight game looks set to continue for some time to come.

'Genius' Panesar flies flag for Luton

CRICKET

BY LUKE PETERSON
sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

LUTON product Monty Panesar has been labelled a "genius" by Nottinghamshire paceman Ajmal Shahzad following his series-changing performance for England.

Panesar has taken 16 wickets in two Test matches in India to leave England on the brink of a first series win in India since 1985.

It is a far cry from the first Test when England, minus Panesar, were thumped by nine wickets.

"I just think he's a genius," Shahzad said. "He's either a genius or a little bit slow. He can be a little bit weird, a little bit out there sometimes but he's more genius-like I think. He's a character."

Shahzad was part of the Ashes-winning party with Panesar in 2010/11.

"In Australia I think we were together for two months so I got to know him quite well and I know he comes back [to Luton]," said Shahzad.

Shahzad, who was visiting William Austin Junior School as part of the 'Co-operative Active Culture Programme', has come up against Panesar while playing county cricket for Yorkshire and Lancashire.

"I've played against him quite often with Sussex," Shahzad said. "His brain works differently, he's one of those people who looks outside the box. On the pitch he just cracks on with it; as soon as he gets the ball in his hand he becomes a machine."

Panesar played for Luton & Town Indians in the Herts Cricket League and Shahzad says Luton is leading the way in developing and integrating the Asian population.

"One of the young lads here [at William Austin School] is already in the county setup," Panesar said.

"I came through the school setup so to see an Asian cricketer come through the ranks motivates them."

"There didn't use to be many coming through but I think they've got more backing now. They're going about it the right way, they just need to develop the talent and get scouted by the counties."

SPIN KING: Monty Panesar

Panesar has spent time at Bedford School coaching England Under-16 ace Vicram Sohal.

REVENGE proved sweet for Luton Town. Three goals in five stunning second-half minutes gave the Hatters a much-needed win over Alfreton Town and avenged the defeat by the same margin they suffered in the corresponding fixture earlier in the season.

Having been distracted by FA Trophy and FA Cup games for the last two weeks, Luton knew they needed a win to avoid falling further behind in the promotion race and they delivered in style.

After dominating for much of the game, JJ O'Donnell grabbed the first goal in the 53rd minute, with Jonathan Smith and Andre Gray getting on the scoresheet in quick succession.

Alfreton simply had no answer to the home side's quick-fire attacks and they could have lost by a bigger margin.

Paul Buckle revealed he has changed his team's preparations for home games in a bid to get them starting on the front foot. It worked a treat here. The Hatters were on top from the outset and could have taken an early lead from one of a number of opportunities.

Gray and Scott Rendell were at the hub of the activity and were a menacing threat throughout. But it took Town until 53 minutes to get the break through.

O'Donnell whipped in the first from close range, Smith headed in the second and then Gray lashed home the third to cap a riotous spell.

Substitute Jon Shaw could have put the icing on the cake in extra time, but the returning striker failed to connect with a cross flashed across the box.

Luton product making waves at Arsenal

FOOTBALL

spout@snmedia.co.uk

LUTON-born Jernade Meade made his first start for Arsenal on Tuesday, playing 82 minutes of a Champions League tie against Olympiacos.

The 20-year-old, who began his career at Luton Sunday League side Bramingham FC, joined Arsenal at the age of 11 and has been a regular in the club's reserve team.

The left-sided player, capable of playing in midfield or defence, was a substitute in the extraordinary 7-5 Capital One Cup win against Reading in October and Arsene Wenger felt the 5ft 3in man was ready for his debut on Tuesday night.

"Meade is not the tallest but he is dynamic and he can win the ball," Wenger told The Sun before Tuesday's game.

"He is a fighter. I have no worries about putting him in."

Meade is not the first youngster to progress from Luton to Arsenal.

Jack Wilshere, who is almost a year older than Meade, was spotted by Hatters scouts in his home town of Hitchin and briefly played in Luton Town's youth setup before joining the North London club in 2001.

Like Wilshere, Meade has come through the ranks at Arsenal and was the third highest Reserve team appearance maker last term.

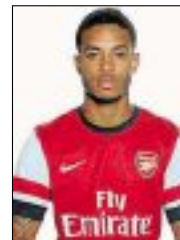

Luton is proving a rich breeding ground for Premier League clubs.

In January, Chelsea snapped up three teenage brothers from the Luton Town academy.

Twins Cole and Rio Dasilva, both 12 at the time of signing, and their brother Jay, 13, all made the move into London in a triple swoop.

Their older sibling, Ryan Dasilva, was a member of the Hatters' first-team squad last season and Luton believe last January's deal could earn the club over £1million if the three youngsters go on to play for Chelsea's first team.

Their move came in the same month that ex-Luton academy player David Moli, now 17, moved from Liverpool to Wolverhampton Wanderers.

Luton go to town on Alfreton

FOOTBALL

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

LUTON boss Paul Buckle said he was delighted with his side's "exceptional" performance in the 3-0 win against Alfreton Town yesterday, but slammed the opposition for their time-wasting.

The Hatters put on a sizzling second-half display, scoring three goals in under five minutes to seal the win over Alfreton.

JJ O'Donnell, pictured, Jonathan Smith and Andre Gray netted in quick succession to secure the three points for the Hatters and put them four points off top.

Despite the win, the game was slowed down by Alfreton who took every opportunity to waste some time.

Buckle said that he felt that the referee did not do enough to combat the tactic. "I thought that we were outstanding all over the pitch," said Buckle.

"The heart, workrate and desire of the team was there. Sometimes you can set up tactically but if there is no heart and desire you haven't got a chance.

"We created good chances but we didn't panic which is the key.

"I was delighted with the start of the second half, especially with them slowing the game down and the keeper taking an eternity to take a goal kick.

"It frustrated the life out of our supporters and us, but they got what they deserved in the end when you saw their keeper sprinting to get an get the ball after the goals went in. The ref had a word but it's not good enough in my opinion, the fans pay good money and they don't deserve to see it."

MEDAL RUSH: Jordan Reynolds poses with the National Ambition Boxing Championship gold medal

Picture: Kieron Hillhouse

Coach: 'First of many titles'

BOXING

BY KEVIN AFFLECK

kevin.affleck@lsmmedia.co.uk

THE coach of Jordan Reynolds says the Luton teenager is the "talk of amateur boxing" after he won his first national title this week.

Reynolds, 17, beat England international Kaseem Mahmood unanimously on points in the 63-66kg Welterweight section final of the National Ambition Boxing Championships in Stoke on Trent on Thursday.

"It will be the first of many, many titles," said Mick Driscoll, his coach at West Ham Amateur Boxing Club. "He's the talk of amateur boxing. My phone didn't stop ringing after the semi-final win [over Wales international Connor Gethin]. 'Who is this boy?' they were all asking."

Driscoll believes Reynolds could be a "modern day Ricky Hatton" and feels his success is testament to the hard work the former Barnfield South Academy pupil puts in at the gym.

"We've had hundreds of champions at our club but this was one of the best because of the dedication this boy has shown," Driscoll said. "He comes down to Plaistow from Luton five nights a week and trains so hard."

Reynolds beat Mahmood in the quarter-final of last year's competition and was too good for him again in three two-minute rounds.

"I'm buzzing," Reynolds said.
